Teaching Through Pastry

Rosalyn Zarrabal is a senior from West Seneca West Senior High School enrolled in the Baking and Pastry Arts program at Erie 1 BOCES Potter Career and Technical Education Center.

"I enrolled in BOCES because I love to bake at home and thought it'd be something to expand my enjoyment," said Rosalyn.

Following graduation, Rosalyn plans on becoming an elementary teacher.

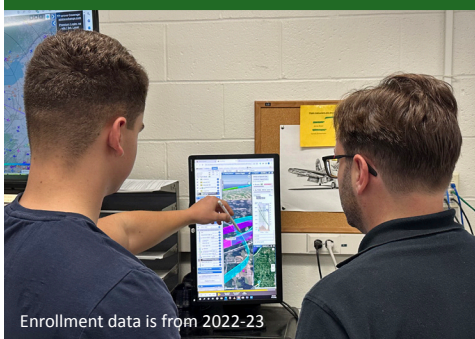

"During this class I found that I really enjoy teaching and helping others," she said. "I think my background in baking could be helpful information to use in elementary education activities."

Under the instruction of Eric Kraft, Rosalyn competed in the New York State SkillsUSA competition and most likely will be inducted into the National Technical Honor Society.

"She is always prepared, hard-working, goes above and beyond to help others before herself and has a passion for the baking and pastry arts field," said Kraft. "I am extremely proud of Rosie."

"The friendships and bonds I made with my classmates and teacher will last me forever," said Rosalyn. "The skills and techniques my teacher taught me throughout the past year, like cleaning, organizing, teamwork and being responsible and respectful, are all qualities that will help me in the future. I love this class and will never forget everything I've learned."

As part of public education, Erie 1 BOCES offers a variety of career and technical programs during the regular school day to high school students in Erie County. High school students interested in learning more about how they can participate in various programs, such as baking and pastry arts, building trades, health careers or cybersecurity and networking, should visit www.e1b.org/cte or speak with their high school counselor.
